INFORMATION

This Reentry Summit will be held in beautiful West Palm Beach, Florida and is a perfect venue to share best practices and identify opportunities to collaborate on solutions, as well as to address the topics of innovative funding solutions, the use of peer specialists in reentry, overcoming barriers, juvenile reentry, housing for returning citizens, employment, and many more vital topics.

Community partners committed to continuing the extensive dialogue in reentry services are encouraged to attend the Reentry Summit. The reentry movement is at a crucial point throughout the nation – over the past few years, significant progress has been achieved in the field nationally, but there are still critical challenges that need to be addressed so that outcomes continue to improve.

PRACTICAL ADVICE FOR SHAPING RESEARCHER/PRACTITIONER RELATIONSHIPS

10:45 AM - 12:00 PM

Room: Salon A

In recent times, the researcher/practitioner partnership has continued to grow in frequency. This is especially true as funding agencies often require an evaluation of implemented programs to determine if their money is being spent appropriately. This breakout session will cover different aspects of the researcher/practitioner partnership. First, a discussion of the current literature of the researcher/practitioner relationship will be presented. Secondly, the concept of "action research" will be discussed to understand the importance of having researchers at the table when practices are being designed and implemented in a real world setting. Third, in line with designing and implementing practices, issues that can arise and how to resolve them will be noted. Finally, we will highlight the importance of using data, through current and past projects, and how it impacts the criminal justice system.

RELEASED WITHOUT A PLACE TO LIVE: NOW WHAT?

10:45 AM - 12:00 PM

Room: Salon B

Housing affordability is a challenge for many households throughout South Florida. As housing prices continue to rise a significant percentage of the population is either cost burdened, defined as paying more than 30% of monthly income towards housing costs, or severely cost burdened in that they pay over 50% of their income in housing costs. No population faces a greater challenge to housing affordability than those reentering society from prison who lack a family support network and face numerous financial and discriminatory burdens to accessing housing. The panel will discuss some of the challenges of providing housing opportunities to those exiting the prison system and possible solutions to opening up housing options for this population.

Presenters

OVERCOMING BARRIERS TO REENTRY: THE ROAD HOME

10:45 AM - 12:00 PM

Room: Salon C

This year more than 700,000 individuals will leave the confines of incarceration and return to the imminent reality of their local neighborhoods and communities. As these men and women embark on this arduous journey, they will inevitably encounter considerable challenges that could significantly impact their success. Various issues such as sustainable housing, employment, substance abuse, transportation, mental health, education, probation and family relationships permeate their daily lives. Their ability to navigate successfully through these issues is vital to establishing a productive life and ultimately community-wide recidivism reduction.

This session will explore systemic barriers and collateral consequences in the reentry process and identify best practices in overcoming these obstacles. A diverse panel of reentry advocates and individuals with lived experience will share their successes and challenges of traveling "The Road Home."

THURSDAY - SESSION 1

Thursday | 10:45 AM - 12:00

GENDER SPECIFIC, TRAUMA-INFORMED RESPONSES FOR JUSTICE INVOLVED WOMEN

10:45 AM - 12:00 PM

Room: Salon D

The criminal justice system has seen a rise in the incarceration of women, whose entry into the criminal justice system is often more complex than their male counterparts (Allen, 2018). Women account for nearly 7% of the prison population and are one of the fastest growing sectors of the population facing incarceration in recent years (Allen, 2018). Pragmatic changes that account for gender responsive programming can assist in ameliorating the complex challenges experienced by women to reduce recidivism (Morash, Bynum, & Koons, 1998). Effective gender responsive programs create a sense of safety by careful site selection, staff selection, and program development that assists in facilitating strengths and addresses challenges faced by justice involved women (Covington & Bloom, 2007). This presentation will illustrate how trauma-informed, gender responsive, restorative, community supervision of justice-involved women plays a role in reducing recidivism and how partnering agencies and community members can support this work.

WHAT IS A REENTRY SIMULATION? PLANNING AND DESIGNING ONE FOR YOUR COMMUNITY

10:45 AM - 12:00 PM

Room: Coconut Room

The majority of individuals serving time in prison will be returning to the community. Many questions might arise for community members, including: what is life like for a returning citizen; and why should the community care about the struggles of a returning citizen? This session will explain how a simulated reentry experience works, and how it might help the community answer these questions. The goals of hosting a reentry event are multifaceted and include broadening the perspective and understanding of the community, educating through experience, and highlighting that reentry is a vital public safety and community interest. The session will discuss what is needed to set up a reentry simulation in your community, including the materials, personnel, stations, floor plan, role of participants and volunteers, time schedule, rules, and location.

Presenter

Adam McMichael | U.S. Attorney's Office

THURSDAY - SESSION 2

Thursday | 2:30 - 3:45 PM

RNR SIMULATION TOOL - THE SWEET SPOT OF FITTING ALL OF THE PIECES TOGETHER

2:30 - 3:45 PM

Room: Salon A

The RNR Simulation Tool was developed to improve decision-making at three levels—client, program and system. This session will illustrate how a decision-support tool can help use assessment information to assign individuals to program. And, how to examine the quality of all programs and improve the system to better serve clients. This toolkit makes it easy to apply the ideas behind quality. After all, quality is about making things easier to get to the finishing line, not putting in place an obstacle course. See how easy it is to connect the dots!

*Learning Objectives: **

1. Understand the importance of the RNR Simulation Tool in the decision-making process.
2. Explain the importance of using assessment information in making informed programmatic decisions.
3. Describe how to evaluate and improve the quality of treatment programs.

Presenter

Faye Taxman, Ph.D. | George Mason University

INNOVATIVE FUNDING SOLUTIONS

2:30 - 3:45 PM

Room: Salon B

Securing adequate funding to support case management, behavioral health, housing, and employment services for returning citizens can be challenging, particularly for the type of intensive, specialized services that are associated with successful reentry and reduced recidivism. This session will discuss the various federal funding streams that can be used to support reentry including explanations of funding streams through the Department of Justice, Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA), Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program Employment and Training (SNAP E&T), and others. We will also offer examples of innovative funding solutions implemented by state and municipal governments, as well as strategies for seeking foundation and private funding.

INNOVATIVE SOCIAL JUSTICE: A PATH FOR LIBRARIES

2:30 - 3:45 PM

Room: Salon C

Libraries in Palm Beach County understand the importance of serving justice-involved individuals to strengthen communities and combat recidivism. With input from local communities and in partnership with the Palm Beach County Reentry Task Force, libraries have taken the lead and re-imagined their role as innovators in community development and social justice. Please join us to find out how libraries in Palm Beach County assist justice-involved individuals through education, professional development, and community outreach.

THURSDAY - SESSION 2

Thursday | 2:30 PM - 3:45 PM

ENGAGING YOUTH FOR TRANSFORMATIVE CHANGE: REAL CHANGE HAPPENS WHEN THE PEOPLE WHO NEED IT, LEAD IT

2:30 - 3:45 PM

Room: Salon D

This session provides multi-year research findings related to trajectories of juvenile justice involved youth in Florida and Palm Beach County. We report outcomes from two programs in Palm Beach County designed to address the needs of youth to facilitate successful transition into the community and empower youth to be agents of personal and community transformative change. Specifically, we provide an overview of youth needs, strengths, and outcomes of youth participants in Inner City Innovators and Back to a Future, programs with a strengths based approach to empowering youth and improving safety in communities. This interactive session will include personal narrative and focus on youth voice, along with research and evidence based practice implementation findings to facilitate rich discussion related to ways to better serve and empower youth in Palm Beach County.

*Learning Objectives:

1. Explain what is needed to facilitate a successful transition for youth into the community.
2. Discuss how youth can be empowered to be agents of personal and community transformative change.
3. Describe the outcomes of the Back to a Future and Inner City Innovators programs.

GEO'S CONTINUUM OF CARE MODEL: IMPROVING OUTCOMES IN MULTIPLE SETTINGS

2:30 - 3:45 PM

Room: Coconut Room

GEO's Continuum of Care model is based on research-supported rehabilitation programs that address criminogenic needs and provide post release support services. This workshop will highlight program outcomes from GEO's Continuum of Care model operating in three correctional settings: prison, halfway house setting, and day reporting center.

Presenters

THURSDAY - SESSION 3

Thursday | 4:00 - 5:15 PM

IMPROVING PROGRAM OUTCOMES AND MEASURING SUCCESS

4:00 - 5:15 PM

Room: Salon A

This session will focus on utilizing core correctional principles, providing appropriate treatment dosage and content, understanding the principle of Responsivity from a broader perspective, and the rationale and process for providing additional interventions and defining successful outcomes in addition to measuring recidivism. Examples of successful program models will be discussed and compared.

Presenter

David D'Amora | Council of State Governments

AN INTEGRATED APPROACH TO RE-ENTRY: WRAPAROUND BEHAVIORAL HEALTH SUPPORTS AND SERVICES

4:00 - 5:15 PM

Room: Salon B

This panel discussion will include a Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network system wide view of the current re-entry services in Circuits 15 & 19 and a projection of future services. Participants will learn how the local system of care can support transition and re-entry from prisons, jails, state hospitals and crisis units. It will address the complexity of implementing evidence-based practices with the re-entry population that include the models such as Recovery Oriented Systems of Care, Motivational Interviewing and Wraparound Services

Learning Objectives:*

1. Explain how a local system of care can support transition and reentry into the community.
2. Discuss the importance of utilizing evidence-based practices when providing behavioral health and substance abuse services.
3. Describe motivational interviewing and the recovery oriented systems of care model.

THOSE CLOSEST TO THE PROBLEM ARE CLOSEST TO THE SOLUTION: THE IMPORTANCE OF PEER INVOLVEMENT IN PROGRAMS AND ADVOCACY FOR THE FORMERLY INCARCERATED

4:00 - 5:15 PM

Room: Salon C

In this session panelists will discuss the importance of peer involvement in programs and advocacy. Specifically, panelists will share their own individual stories of their reentry journey and how important peers were in this process. Panelists will also talk about the power of peer involvement to build community, create support, and make connections important to successful reentry. Panelists will also share what programs and advocacy campaigns could do to be more inclusive of people with records and the challenges that come with taking this approach

THURSDAY - SESSION 3

Thursday | 4:00 - 5:15 PM

RACIAL DISPARITY IN JUSTICE INVOLVEMENT AND REENTRY

4:00 - 5:15 PM

Room: Salon D

Data has shown us that racial disparity exists throughout the intercepts of the justice system from the front end through reentry. Our panelists will discuss how this impacts and is impacted by our communities, our schools and the system itself. We will look at what factors can be considered and what work can be done to minimize this disparity.

LEADING ADAPTIVE CHANGE IN COMMUNITY CORRECTIONS: MAKING YOURSELF AND YOUR AGENCY MORE NIMBLE, AGILE AND EFFECTIVE

4:00 - 5:15 PM

Room: Coconut Room

We tend to be good at meeting the technical challenges of managing our agencies, but often have difficulty rising to the adaptive challenges of leadership and change that call for new skills, new mindsets and risk taking or getting out of our comfort zone. This session will engage you in a versatile and effective process for developing ourselves and our staff as leaders who are able to meet the more difficult adaptive change issues facing us today; how to support and challenge ourselves to get to a level of staff and organizational competence that results in demonstrable benefits and change in the lives of our staff, clients and communities. This process works across all staffing and client levels and develops senior managers, mid-level managers/ supervisors, line-staff and clients.

Bogue and O'Connor have been co-creating and implementing this system with seven different county community corrections agencies in Minnesota and Oregon with great results. Staff find it fun, meaningful and doable. It is not a "top down" process, but rather a "top supported, bottom up" approach that starts with the top management learning, practicing and modeling a developmental coaching system with their mid-level managers who then pass it on to their line-staff, who then pass it on to their clients, who then pass it on their families and to other clients. We will tell you the story and outcomes of our journey with these agencies, and show you the promise this journey holds for inspiring a new vision for community corrections.

FRIDAY - SESSION 4

Friday | 10:30 - 11:45 AM

COMMUNITY-BASED REENTRY: KEYS TO MAKING IT WORK

10:30 - 11:45 AM

Room: Salon A

This session will provide a case study of Palm Beach County's Community-Based Reentry Model. Most reentry efforts in the country are developed and administered by law enforcement. Palm Beach County utilizes a social service philosophy through community-based service providers. The project has been a true collaboration between the Federal Government, State Government, Local Government and Community Stakeholders. The County has successfully cut rearrest rates in half for those involved in programming. The session will provide information on how to engage the community as three of the key stakeholders will provide information on organizational structure, vision, implementation, partnerships, funding, overcoming obstacles, data collection and sustainability.

IMPROVING EMPLOYMENT OUTCOMES FOR PEOPLE FORMERLY INCARCERATED: DEVELOPING A PATHWAY TO SUCCESS

10:30 - 11:45 AM

Room: Salon B

Employment is an essential component to successful reentry. When people returning to the community from incarceration seek work many face barriers, such as behavioral health needs and housing instability, making it difficult to connect to sustainable employment. This population may also experience skill deterioration, employer bias and lack of access to pro-social networks. This session will highlight effective approaches for eliminating barriers to obtaining and maintaining employment. Specifically, employment service providers and correctional professionals will learn about strategies for addressing a person's assessed risk to reoffend and associated need factors through research-driven and best practices. The presenters will discuss the importance of providing supportive services to promote stabilization. They will also provide guidance on building employability skills and engaging employers in the hiring of people formerly incarcerated.

FRIDAY - SESSION 4

Friday | 10:30 - 11:45 AM

THE TREATMENT, HOUSING, AND SUPERVISION OF SEX OFFENDERS

10:30 - 11:45 AM

Room: Salon C

The session will begin with Ms. Patterson focusing on a brief overview of registration requirements and the conditions of supervision for the sex offender in Florida. She will report data describing the number of RSOs who are supervised and those who are homeless, as well as the current re-entry efforts of Florida Department of Corrections. Dr. Levenson will then discuss the role of treatment and rehabilitation in successful re-entry, and the challenges faced in South Florida with housing and transience. Finally, Mr. Ted Rodham will describe his first-hand experience as an ex-offender and housing provider, and will attest to the challenges our residents face on a daily basis.

Learning Objectives: *

1. Describe the registration requirements and conditions of supervision for sex offenders.
2. Discuss the issues faced by sex offenders who are homeless.
3. Explain the role treatment plays in the successful rehabilitation and reintegration of sex offenders.

Presenters

Jill Levenson, Ph.D. | Barry University

A MODEL FOR IMPLEMENTING CBI-EMPLOYMENT

10:30 - 11:45 AM

Room: Salon D

Cognitive Behavioral Interventions for Offenders Seeking Employment (CBI-EMP) is designed for justice involved individuals who have a high need for obtaining and maintaining employment. The University of Cincinnati Corrections Institute (UCCI) developed this curriculum. This intervention curriculum relies on a cognitive behavioral approach incorporating specific instructional scripts and "Mental Tools," for assisting clients to identify and manage risky situations as they relate to employment.

Attendees will learn the What, Why, and How of CBI – Employment and a model for its implementation. A step-by-step outline detailing the plan's successes and challenges will be provided.

Presenter
